BACKGROUND

The Vermont Residential Building Energy Standard (RBES), was adopted by statute in 1997 (21 V.S.A. § 266) and affects all new homes (and additions over 500 square feet) built after July 1, 1998. The RBES was revised in 2004 and revisions took effect January, 2005. The statute requires that at least a year prior to final adoption of each revision of the RBES, the DPS shall convene an advisory committee to include one or more mortgage lenders, builders, building designers, utility representatives and other persons with experience and expertise, such as consumer advocates and energy conservation experts to provide the Department with recommendations for revisions of the RBES. The Department anticipates that the advisory committee will meet 3-6 times.

In 2009, the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) included the following requirements for applying for funding through the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA):

Section 410 of the ARRA Conference Report provides that a State will receive State Energy Program (SEP) funding under ARRA only if the Governor notifies the Department of Energy in writing that they have obtained the following assurances.

The State, or the applicable units of local government that have authority to adopt building codes, will implement the following:

- A residential building energy code (or codes) that meets or exceeds the most recent International Energy Conservation Code, or achieves equivalent or greater energy savings.
- A plan to achieve 90 percent compliance with the above energy codes within eight years. This plan will include active training and enforcement programs and annual measurement of the rate of compliance.

In response to DOE requirements for funding through ARRA the Vermont General Assembly made the following additions to the RBES through the passage of Act 45. This includes timelines to update the Residential Energy Code as required in ARRA. The Act requires the new energy codes to be in effect no later than January 1, 2011 and requires the completion of a compliance plan as required by ARRA no later than September 1, 2011, and the establishment of training and enforcement programs and a system for measuring the rate of compliance by June 30, 2012.

The DPS plans to first address the code update and then at a later date reconvene the stakeholder group to discuss the compliance plan. Therefore tasks regarding the compliance plan are not included in the scope of work for this RFP.

SCOPE OF SERVICES

- Facilitate 4-6 stakeholder meetings (including drafting agendas, writing minutes, sending materials to stakeholders, etc).
- Provide technical assistance as needed, including suggested Vermont specific amendments to the IECC 2009 (if deemed necessary), such as log home performance requirements, Home Energy Rating compliance path, etc.
- Assist with Vermont rulemaking process including drafting economic analysis and impact statement; assisting with drafting of rules, and possibly providing testimony to Legislative Committee on Administrative Rules.
- Facilitate public meeting (if deemed necessary).
- Assist with the update of the RBES Handbook and Certificate (amending and editing current Handbook to include new code information).
- Complete a plan for outreach and education on the code update and possibly assist with implementation of this plan, including presentations on the new code to stakeholder groups.
